This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

BEING A SUPPLEMENT TO

THE FAMILY GENEALOGY

PREFACE

In response to the earnest solicitation of many in the Oldfather Relationship, I have compiled this Post Office Directory of the Oldfather Family. After compiling and publishing the Oldfather Genealogy I felt that I had performed my full duty toward the family, and I thought that the task of preparing a Directory should be undertaken by some one else. However, my former work put me in possession of so much information, that I plainly had the advantage over all others in collecting and arranging the data for a supplement to the Genealogy.

Yielding, therefore, to the demands of my friends I present herewith a complete Directory, showing first the alphabetical list of the people, with full post office addresses; and then the states and post offices also arranged in alphabetical order, so that at a glance it can be seen who lives in each state or who lives at any post office. I sincerely hope that this little volume will afford much pleasure to all of the Oldfather friends.

INTRODUCTION

About a year ago Cousin Longman published a Genealogy of the Oldfather Family which has been acknowledged to be one of the most complete and accurate genealogies ever published. It has found its way into the Library of Congress and many state and city libraries, thus preserving to posterity a brief and interesting history of the Family. In the years spent in research and investigation the compiler has had but one aim, namely, that he might contribute something to the lasting pleasure and benefit of the Family. He therefore placed the price of the book at cost. The Family have been most generous in their expressions of thanks for this painstaking service.

There are thousands of names in the Genealogy and the arrangement of them has been so systematized that it is easy to ascertain what relationship exists between any one person and every other named therein. Only those things have been put into the Genealogy which will be as true a couple of centuries from now as at present. It was the aim to put into it only those things which are of permanent value. Post office addresses were therefore omitted because they could be of interest to the present generation only.

However, such eagerness has been shown for these addresses in order that we may know where all the people live whose names are in the Genealogy that this Post Office Directory has been compiled to meet the demand.

It is the hope of the compiler that this little book shall find its way into every home of the Oldfather Family Connection. Such a book will be of great benefit to the growing children of the Family. There is such a thing as a worthy family pride which stimulates the youth to noble endeavor. It is proper for any family to emphasize the high ideals and standards of their progenitors. Thus we may suggest to our growing children the possibilities of splendid accomplishments in their lives.

Both this volume and the Genealogy maintain a high degree of modesty and in no manner show a boastful or arrogant spirit. The compiler has given to the family a work of merit and dignity that will call forth from his kinfolk the most generous expressions of gratitude.

Charles Gross Oldfather.

A Tribute to our Fathers

Hon. Albert E. Isley, Newton, Ill.

Our fathers, who are they?

Behold the beauties and glories of the land where we live. Behold a continent transformed from the rough and rugged outlines bequeathed to it by nature to the finished product of a twentieth century civilization.

Let all the struggles and trying vicissitudes of the pioneer in a wilderness, overrun with wild beasts, inhabited by cunning savages, dotted over with dens, traversed by paths, now the silent witnesses of a transition to a land verdant with fruit and flowers, fragrant and sacred beneath the shadows of numberless homes and hallowed by a citizenship whose fruition is resplendent with progress and freedom, answer.

The patriotic and righteous impulses of the present age stripped of the example and salutary influence of the giants of earlier days who still live in immortal deeds would "become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal."

We have lived to love the good tidings brought to us through generations gone. With the dauntless faith and homage of the winged worshiper we have always venerated the noble hands that lifted us from the cradle of youth. And now as we stand upon the mountain peak of maturity actuated by honest convictions in just appreciation and with complacent felicity we look back over the historic and eventful past in true devotion and respect to our ever faithful and honored fathers.

A Tribute to our Mothers

Rev. Francis V. Bear, Rector Christ Church, Sag Harbor, N. Y.

The home is the basis of our civilization. Mother is the center of the home. She is the home. Not only do we gather around her presence, we breathe in her very spirit and bear it forth with us into the world. Our better self is largely our heritage from her.

No one but a mother can realize what motherhood means, with its anxious waiting, soul-racking pain, baby joys, patient watchings, ceaseless care, and infinite love; and all that a race of men may continue to live on the face of the earth. She is the supreme type of human sacrifice, and for that reason she is closer to the Christ than the rest of us.

Our mothers were not merely ladies. They were more than that. They were true women, who fulfilled in the divine plan their best and highest mission. When our fathers fainted under the burden in the heat of the day, our mothers took it upon their shoulders till strength returned again. When as young men and maidens we were rebellious and wayward, it was mother's heart that continued to love us, and her hand that led us back to virtue's path. No heart so strong, no faith so bright, no hope so high, no love so true on earth as hers. Our mothers—the mothers of the common people—they are the truest and best of all mankind. Whether at the grave, or in their living presence, we here acknowledge our great debt to their worth, and reverently ask our God to make us worthy of our mothers.
